REVIEWS.

The Studio.

The latest number of "The Studio" to have dated March 15—contains some very striking reproductions in colour of the work of the painter, Mr. Whiting. Mr. Whiting was born in the district of Chao, the understanding and entered the St. John's School, studying later at Paris. A fairly regular contributor to "The Studio," in his return to Hong-Kong, Mr. Whiting was offered an appointment on the staff of that journal, and though he declined it, he has become out of him as the Studio's special correspondent during the latter rising. Quoting the appreciation from which the following facts are gathered, "after the eventful and terrible times in Peking, and when all was quiet again and order restored, he remained on in North China, and it is his ambition to return there some day to paint in that wonderful land. Here, he says, are magnificent subjects for the artist—scenes of sorrow, hope and joy, and of barbaric paganism in the shadows and drearily impressive funeral and wedding processions. It is in sporting subjects that Mr. Whiting finds his principal inspiration, but his striking pictures are a strong feature of his work. His pictures, though with active life, and his broad, powerful treatment of his subjects adds to their charm. "A sporting idyll" and "The Old Hunter" reproduced in colour in the number under notice, are characteristic of Mr. Whiting's water colour work. The issue contains many other features of interest.

The Landscapes of Corot.

From the same publishers we have received the fifth of a series of six parts of a work on "The Landscapes of Corot." The thirty reproductions in colour which the complete work comprises have been selected from some of the best-known collections in England, Scotland and France, while the letterpress is by Mr. D. C. Thompson, author of "The Barbizon School," "The Barbizon Masters," and other art publications. The work is a credit to this well-known publishing house. The plates are remarkably good specimens of modern three-colour work, and reproduce with great fidelity the subtle charm of the great artist's work.

Returning from a tour of inspection on the adjoining islands, the Governor of Tahiti (Pacific Ocean) found that three of the four gendarmes stationed on the island had disappeared. Inquiries showed that they had left for the desert island of Pitaki (or Whitsunday Island) to defend a supposed buried treasure, valued at $25,000,000. According to tradition this treasure was hidden in the island 30 years ago, and several attempts have been made to discover it, one being made in 1906. Recently an American party arrived with a sailing vessel to renew the search, and the three gendarmes were despatched in hot haste to prevent the explorers from removing what is regarded as French property—supposing the treasure really exists.

THE FORTY YEAR TEST.

An article must have exceptional merit to survive for a period of forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was first offered to the public in 1872. From a small beginning it has grown in favor and popularity until it has attained a world wide reputation. You will find nothing better for a cough or cold. Try it and you will understand why it is a favorite after a period of more than forty years. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy not only gives relief to a cough, but for sale by all Chemists and Druggists.

THE MERCHANTS' BANK'S ANNUAL MEETING.

know where we are. I think it would be very convenient to the shareholders and the public at large if we could have a stock exchange quotation. This bank now is very important, and I do not see why we should not have it like the others. I hope you will see your way to arrange it in future.

The Chairman: Gentlemen, with reference to the remarks of the gentleman who has just spoken, this is a matter, I think, that has been before this meeting on several previous occasions. As you are aware, your board have up to the present not been in favour of a stock exchange quotation (hear, hear) as we do not consider it would be in the interests of the shareholders. However, this is entirely a question for the shareholders to settle, and if there is any strong feeling expressed your board will be very glad to take it into consideration. Well, gentlemen, as there are no other comments, apparently, I will put the resolution which I have just proposed to the meeting.

The resolution was carried "unanimously."

Mr. Maxwell Simon: I beg to propose:—That Sir David Yule and Mr.
James Campbell, the Directors retiring from the board in rotation, be and they are hereby re-elected Directors of the Bank. I will ask Mr. Ryrie to second that.

Mr. J. M. Ryrie: I have great pleasure in seconding that.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

The Chairman: I think the next proposal comes from your side of the table.

Sir George S. Murray, Mr. Chairman, I beg to propose:—That Messrs.
Cooper Brothers and Co. and Messrs.
W. A. Browne and Co. be re-appointed Auditors of the Bank and that their remuneration be 150 guineas each for each audit.

Mr. J. Macdonald: I beg to second
that.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

Mr. H. H. Nelson: I have much pleasure, gentlemen, in proposing a resolution of thanks for the excellent conduct of this institution. I should like, in the first instance, to express my satisfaction and the satisfaction of the Shareholders that our newly-appointed Chief Manager should have such a pleasant report to place before his Directors for them to lay before us in this, the first year of his holding that office. I should like also to express the satisfaction that we all feel that the Directors have soon their way again to give a bonus to the staff of the Bank—always a very desirable thing from the point of view of the staff and I am sure an excellent thing from the point of view of the Shareholders, because I attribute, and always have attributed, the very greatest importance to the fact that the staff are an excellent staff, doing excellent work, and I am sure they will feel the greatest satisfaction in such a recognition as I am about to propose. With regard to the remarks that have been made as to a Stock Exchange quotation, we have had that matter before us several times, and I have always steadily opposed the suggestion, because I do not see that any good result at all can come from the fact of having a Stock Exchange quotation in a bank situated as we are. As a matter of fact, Directors and specialist Directors of financial institutions—have nothing whatever to do with the Stock Exchange. Their business is to look after the interests that they serve—to look after making good profits for their shareholders, and it is to my mind no help whatever in the realisation of necessary sales of bank shares that they should be quoted on the Stock Exchange.
I know as a matter of fact that the shares of this Bank are very difficult to obtain even at the quoted price, but they would not be less so if they were quoted on the Stock Exchange. I may say for myself that I have been continuously endeavouring to pick up a few of them lately but have failed except to a very moderate extent. There is one other thing I would like to say, which is to congratulate the Directors and all concerned upon the removal of the Bank to a suite of offices which are worthy of the Bank and will in the future be worthy of the far greater Bank which I believe this institution is destined to become. (Hear, hear.) The arrangements are capital; there is an excellent office, beautifully arranged, and it is a credit to the institution. I am very glad that the move has been made. I do not think there is anything else to which I need specially refer, so I will go on to the resolution which I have to place before you. I am sure we all desire to express the satisfaction we feel at having such a report placed before us at which we have to-day.
The steady advance that this Bank has made in proportion has been most satisfactory to all concerned, and we earnestly hope that it will be continued. We have made excellent strides in the past and I think we shall make bigger ones in the future. I feel sure in my own mind that, given ordinary luck and fair play, this Bank will become a very great institution one of these days, and then it may be worthy of consideration as to whether the question of a Stock Exchange quotation may not be revived. At the present time I personally can see absolutely no good in it. Our Chairman to-day has placed before us an excellent statement of the position of the Bank. He has made some very shrewd remarks with regard to the policy which has been adopted by the certain number of persons—Officers who do not know very much about it—in reference to the establishment of a Stock Exchange quotation.

(Winner trained by S. Pickering, at Newmarket, and bred in U.S.A.)

Betting 8 to 1 each agst. Cigar, Culbert, Tuxedo, and Knuck na Corriga, 10 to 1 Brancepeth, 10 to 1 Bonbon Rose, 25 to 1 Agadoo, 33 to 1 each Berrilldon and Maiden Erigh, 40 to 1 each Short Grass, Blue Stone, and Jarnet II, 50 to 1 each Mediator (o).

Place betting in proportion.

The draw for positions at the starting post resulted as follows: Cigar 1 (inside), Bonbon 2, Berrilldon 3, Ultimatum 4, Maiden Erigh 5, Spanish Prince 6, Blue Stone 7, Outram 8, Bonbon Rose 9, Culbert 10, Mediator 11, Jarnet II 12, Agadoo 13, Surge 14, Knuck-na-Corriga 15, Brancepeth 16, Pintadoe 17, Prevoyant 18, Elton Boy 19, Puro 20, Short Grass 21, Tuxedo 22 (outside position).

When the tapes ascended, twelve minutes behind time, Ultimatum was last, and Brancepeth, Bonbon Rose, and Pintadoe got badly away. Prevoyant, on the right, made the running, followed by Culbert, with Maiden Erigh and Cigar next, these being in advance of Mediator, Blue Stone, Outram, and Knuck-na-Corriga. When about half the journey had been covered Mediator assumed the lead, followed by Culbert, Maiden Erigh, Short Grass, Outram, and Prevoyant; then came Knuck-na-Corriga and Agadoo; with Cigar next. At the distance Outram drew out clear of Culbert and Short Grass, and won by two lengths; a head separated second and third. Prevoyant was fourth, Mediator fifth, Knuck-na-Corriga sixth, Agadoo seventh, Cigar eighth, Spanish Prince ninth, Bonbon Rose tenth, Puro eleventh, Berrilldon twelfth, Brancepeth thirteenth, Maiden Erigh fourteenth, Elton Boy fifteenth, Tuxedo sixteenth, Surge next, and Pintadoe last.

This afternoon Outram won the Lincolnshire Handicap for Mr. Paul Nello, the victory being achieved fairly and in such a way as to leave no possible doubt that the best horse at the weights won. Outram's usual tactics after the race for basin candidates; but the ante-post betting favourites were one and all widely and ignominiously routed. It is not pleasant to have to state that there is much to be said for the old adage that a horse is worth what he can win.

have been raised very high, on what had seemed in all the preliminary discussions to be sound reasoning. The money wagered on Tuxedo, Cigar, and Brancepeth was tremendous, and their downy heavy losses. Outram was not by any means an absolute outsider. He was the horse recommended by me in this morning's issue as the one most likely to beat the favourites, and I was constrained to make the recommendation because of the urgent representations of his trainer, who was brimful of confidence. Naturally Pickering was the one to laugh last and longest when it was all over. No one can begrudge him what is quite a triumph.

Outram was not pitched into the race. He was just fairly handicapped, and the fact that his best performances have been when Maber could ride him was, naturally, not considered to improve his chances in the hands of a light-weight. But his trainer made up for what was lacking in these directions by turning him out a perfectly trained animal. Outram has never looked so well before, and in every way did his appearance confirm Pickering's enthusiastic description of him. Let me here remark that an enormous crowd witnessed the race, and it was certainly a matter for much satisfaction that the weather was so delightfully fine. Though the light might have been better, the paddock inspection was, as usual, full of interest. On the whole they were a set of well-trained horses, and even Spanish Prince and Blue Stone were more forward than I expected to find them, bearing in mind the great difficulties in the matter of heavy going that Norton has had to contend with.

RACKS' FINAL TIME.

Perhaps the palm for looks and condition generally was carried off by Cigar, who was big and hard, and obviously very well. He is a perfect model of the compact, short-coupled and balanced thoroughbred. Culbert was an object of admiration by the most exacting critics, and others I liked in the paddock were Bonbon Rose, Tuxedo, Mediator, Ultimatum, and Knuck-na-Corriga. Agadoo has grown into a great strapping horse, but my idea is that he can be made a better. Brancepeth met with hostile criticism, especially from the Newmarket people, who declared that he does not compare with the horse he was when Lord Dunsford had him. But then he is the sort that will never do his trainer much credit. He is too plain and light fleshed for that, and moreover, the big ringbone on the off fore leg is not a pretty thing. After he had entered on this morning's course he observed professed to detect lameness, but though I am sure they raised an unnecessary scene, the effect was apparent when he began to open. He was strongly opposed, and at one time looked like being knocked out to a long price, until a few more came for him and stayed the rot. Meanwhile there was a perfect furor for Tuxedo and Cigar, and then a great rush for Culbert brought that horse to half the odds he had been quoted at. There was a big tip for Maiden Erigh, but this horse might just as well have stayed at Newmarket. Cigar, for case, would have been better off for his absence, and so we come to the race and the dismal tale for backers it was destined to tell.

It was indeed bad luck for Mr. Gorham, after all the trouble and patience he has had with the horse, and the satisfactory trial it had given, that Ultimatum should be the only one to be left. His jockey declares that Maiden Erigh dashed across him, causing the horse to wheel round. Mr. Coventry had to deal with some ill-behaved horses, but saving the bad luck attending Ultimatum, for which the starter was not, of course, responsible, the start was a satisfactory one. Prevoyant led out at a tremendous pace. So much could be seen at once, for Mr. Tread's colours are yellow, and easily distinguished. Tuxedo was also smartly away, and though drawing what is considered to be the worst position, Cigar left the gate on equal terms with the majority of the field. Brancepeth, too, jumped off all right, but they had not gone far when another horse went right across him, so causing Huxley to have to snatch him up. He then made up a bit of ground, and though running on at the finish, the jockey had been down. He could not make any more of the race. However, I have already stated what the jockey says. My own idea is that he had not the necessary pace to hold his place in the race, and that it was just what I said.

SCOTTISH SPORT

ASSOCIATION INTERNATIONAL

One of the most remarkable Association International events played between Scotland and England took place at Turf Moor, Burnley, when the Scots after a grilling first half, which left them 2 goals down, achieved a brilliant victory, 3 goals. Nothing looked more probable after the quarter of an hour than a sweeping Scottish triumph.

Two goals in the first ten minutes of each other. Before the game had well commenced, it gave the Englishmen a position that looked almost unassailable, the Scots being quite unsettled by the rapid reverses, and their territory completely overrun by the English. The Englishmen, surviving this bad time, the Scots took heart of grace, and in the later stages of the first half set up a nice game, the half-chu standing up well against a strong wind, and the forwards moving with promise. But their position on changing over was by no means bright, for England's defence had given indications of great strength, the veteran Crompton being in his best form.

The way in which Scotland resumed however, removed any doubts. Goal scored a beautiful goal within the second or third minute of the second half, and thereafter the Scots never looked back. England's defence was routed. The Scottish forwards played in dazzling fashion, and when Goal scored a second point, and Reid went through for the winning goal, the spectators were roused to great enthusiasm.

The Scottish team were—C. Shaw

(Goal); A. McNeil and J. Dodd (Goal);

J. Wright (Midfield); J. E. Gordon

(Rangers); and P. Nellie (Heart of Mid-Lothian); A. McAlister and J. McManey

(Goal); W. Reid (Rangers); J. Craig

(Falkirk); and W. Smith (Hibernian).

CHINESE CONCESSIONS TO THE STANDARD OIL CO.

PEKING, March 22.

In spite of official equivocations from the secretariat of the Cabinet, it is understood that Mr. Yamana, the Japanese Minister, had an interview on Thursday, March 12, with the Premier, Hsin-g-shing, at which he stated that the Standard Oil agreement had been concluded in violation of Japanese treaty rights. Japan had twice previously approached China with the object of acquiring similar rights to those accorded to the American company, but China had concluded the agreement with the Standard Oil without informing her.

Such action, Mr. Yamana declared, was injurious to amicable relations. He was instructed to ask whether it would be possible for China to grant Japan oil concessions outside the Standard Oil areas.

Hsin-shing is understood to have replied that China did not deem it convenient to modify the agreement with the Standard Oil Company, as it would be certain to result in complications.—

SIR J. FORBES-ROBERTSON.

Visit to White House.

WASHINGTON, March 19.

Sir Johnston and Lady Forbes-Robertson were introduced to President Wilson at White House to-day by their correspondent. As they entered the President's private office the latter rose from his seat at his desk, stepped forward, and greeted them profusely. The President asked his guests to sit down, and for five minutes conversed with them. He told Sir Johnston that he had enjoyed his "Hamlet" on Monday night, and that Mrs. Wilson's great regret this week was her inability to attend a performance by Sir Johnston.

Mrs. Wilson is ill after a severe fall.

After the reception by the President Sir

Johnston and Lady Forbes-Robertson went over to White House. The former was impressed by the paintings and marble statues in the several rooms of the mansion.—"Daily Telegraph."

When Maxim Gorki returned to Russia thinking himself safe under the amnesty of last year he forgot that the amnesty was confined to political offences, whereas in 1908 a conviction on a charge of seditious speeches was insisted against him as the author of a story entitled "Mother."

Leaving of Maxim Gorki's return, the Prosecutor has ordered the investigation magistrate of St. Petersburg forthwith to push the proceedings. But if Maxim Gorki continues to reside in Russia he cannot be forced to appear at the trial, which will be by jury, and is almost certain to end in his acquittal. The incriminated passages in the story have apparently not been reproduced in the edition of the book published in Russia.

HORSES IN A RACE.

To return to the story of the race, let me say that when Tuxedo had compounded in a few strides quite a long way from home, Prevoyant went on, followed by Cuthbert and Mediator. A furlong from the finish I really thought Mediator would struggle home, but the horse could not sustain the effort, and in a few strides he was passed by Outram, who made up a lot of ground in the last furlong and a half. His rush was irresistible, and, drawing farther away at every stride, he went on to win a good race by two lengths. Four or five horses were bunched together behind, but the judge gave it that Cuthbert had beaten Short Grass a head for second place; whilst only heads could have divided Short Grass, Prevoyant, and Mediator. Then came Knuck-na-Corriga, also close up, his jockey having evidently been disappointed in not finding an opening. Agadoo finished just in front of Cigar, who was very unlucky in the race. Had not Maiden Erlegh overrun in front of him and shut him out at the blow in the course I think Mr. Heyburn's horse would have run into a place. Maiden Erlegh was beaten at the time, and, moreover, swerved from Walter Griggs's whip. Thus once more did we see this horse stop to do nothing just when he had looked to be merely entering. The worst disappointment of the race was surely Tuxedo.
The way he dropped right out, much indeed have surprised his people, for they had backed him as I assured that he must win in a contest. I asked Donoghue afterwards what happened, and he said that the horse ran "sully."
"When I went down to the post," he said, "I had a feeling that he was sulling from the very first. When he jumped off, he put his head on the ground, and simply went on by himself until he was beaten. I don't know what the cause was, but I don't think it was anything serious."

UNITED STATES AND MEXICO.

LONDON, April 16.
It is learned that when Mr. O'Shaughnessy, the U. S. Charge d'Affaires, apprised President Huerta of the proposed naval demonstration, Huerta argued that the episode of the arrest of the orderly was a subject for arbitration by the Hague tribunal. President Wilson emphatically replied, through Mr. O'Shaughnessy, that the time for delay and evasion had passed and that the United States would temporize no longer.

English Press Comment.

The English papers dwell on the gravity of the Mexican situation, and speculate on the nature of American action and the possibility of complications with other Powers. While the idea of any advance on Mexico City is scouted, the papers are of the opinion that it will need all President Wilson's firmness and patience to avoid attempting to impose peace on Mexico by means of armed intervention.

LATER.

Huerta Climbing Down.

A telegram from Mexico states officially that Huerta has practically promised to fire the salute.

Mexico's Attitude.

President Huerta continues to treat the situation lightly. He telegraphed yesterday that the Tampico incident was of no special importance. Mexico, he said, had quarrels with nobody, and least of all with the great American nation.

Huerta submitted the American demands to the Mexican Senate, whose decision, so far, is unknown.

Federals Being Defeated.

General Villa that Federals retreating from San Pedro were caught between two rebel forces. General Villa, at the head of his army, hopes to land a crushing blow.

To Salute or Not To Salute.

A telegram from Washington states that it transpires that Huerta attached the condition that American ships salute in acknowledgment of the Mexican salute. It is authoritatively stated that the only point remaining is the number of guns forming the salute.

The officials consider that the crisis is ended and hint that the salute will be acknowledged. They point out that salutes have always been acknowledged in similar disputes in the past. Acknowledgment, it is stated, will in no wise constitute recognition of the Huerta Government.

President Wilson On the Situation.

Another Washington telegram states that the Government may retain the increase naval force after the desired salute has been fired.

It is understood that the French and German Ambassadors played an important part in inducing Huerta to field. President Wilson, in an interview with newspaper correspondents, said that there was no precedent for refusing to return a salute; therefore Huerta's offer must be accepted.

No orders have yet been given regarding the ships. Since the date of the salute had not been fixed, he hoped it would be unnecessary to submit a message to Congress on the subject. President Wilson does not favour a pacific blockade, because it would merely shut off trade. He might have something to say on the subject of blockades and neutral nations after the salute had been fired.

Reuter's Peking correspondent telegraphs that 50,000 troops are hemming in the White Wolf brigades at Renshou, in Shensi, which has been looted with great slaughter.

The troops resolutely attacked the brigades and killed hundreds.

The remainder are now endeavouring to retreat.

The situation has already greatly improved.

Some towns have escaped looting by opening the gates to the brigades and paying heavy ransoms. Those resisting were subjected to appalling cruelty.

Many Mission doctors are attending the wounded.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN JAPAN.

A BISHOP'S DENUNCIATION OF CHINA'S POLICY.

LONDON, April 17.
In a letter to the "Times," the Bishop of South Tokyo strongly condemns the action of the Chinese Government in stopping supplies of recalling large numbers of Chinese students from Tokyo for political reasons. Such policy, his Lordship thinks, converts quite reasonable and well-affected students into anti-Government revolutionaries.

SOLDIERS' CLUB TOURNAMENT.

The match between the Royal Engineers' (A) and D.C.L.I. was commenced at the Soldiers' Club last night. There was a large attendance. Capt. Coxon, R.E., and Sergt. Ostler, D.C.L.I., were the opening pair. Coxon started very well and held his own for some time. Ostler, however, was in good form, his cannon play being particularly good. Getting past the hundred mark he went ahead rapidly and, making double figure breaks repeatedly, ran out an easy winner by 75 points. Breaks:—Ostler, 19, 18, 17, 14, Coxon, 18, 15, 14, 12. Scores:—Sergt. Ostler, 250; Corp. Coxon, 175.

The next game brought Q. M. Sergt. Anderson, R.E., and Sergt. Lunnion, D.C.L.I., in opposition. The first half of the game, Anderson was in splendid form, seldom making a bad shot. Lunnion struggled to keep within measurable distance of his opponent. Anderson had a lead of over 50 soon after passing the hundred mark. This was reduced to 24 at the 150 mark. Lunnion improved greatly and the scores were called 100 all after which he took the lead, 200-100. At the finish, play was most exciting. Both players had several shots in attempting the winning stroke, which ultimately fell to Anderson, who was a good game by two points. Breaks:—Anderson, 19, 14, 12, 11, 10, Lunnion, 15, 12, 11, 10. Scores:—Anderson, 250; Lunnion, 248.

The games will be resumed to-night. The D.C.L.I. led by 75 points. Team scores:—D.C.L.I., 498; R.E. (A), 425.

SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
ROBINSBURGH, March 24.

SAUNDERS OF THE "TIMES."

At the end of this month, Mr. George Saunders retires from the post of paid correspondent of the "Times," which he has held since 1900. The news will be of interest to many natives of Perthshire and Forfarshire, for Mr. Saunders is a native of Rattray, where he was born in 1850, is the son of the late Mr. D. H. Saunders, of Dundee and Cairnmuir, and received his pre-University education at Dundee High School. Mr. Saunders' first foreign letter was contributed to the Dundee "Advertiser" while he was a student at Bonn, and the first of his writings to appear in the "Times" was an account of the Tay Bridge disaster. Appointed Berlin correspondent of the "Morning Post" in 1888, he held that position for nine years, and for the next eleven years acted in a similar capacity for the "Times." In 1900, on the sudden death of Mr. William Lavina, successor of famous M. De Biowitz, Mr. Saunders became the representative of the "Times" in Paris. He was responsible for such of the recent years—the journalistic "coup" of recent years—the announcement of the seizure of Bosnia by Austria, and that Prince Ferdinand, as he then was, intended to proclaim himself King of Bulgaria. After 27 years of daily foreign journalism, Mr. Saunders is contentedly settling down in the South of England, but will continue to occupy himself with literary pursuits.

DR. SCOTT KELTIE.

Another distinguished Scot from Tay-side is shortly to resign his position—Mr. John Scott Keltie, LL.D., for 22 years the secretary to the Royal Geographical Society. Dr. Keltie was born in Dundee in 1844, and educated at Perth and the Universities of St. Andrews and Edinburgh. The earlier part of his career was devoted to literary work and in 1883 he became librarian to the Royal Geographical Society, succeeding to the secretaryship in 1892. Dr. Keltie has a remarkable past and knowledge of all the leading explorers and expeditions, British and foreign, of the past 30 years. He is the author of several books, including a "History of the Scottish Highlands and Glaciers" and "The Partition of Africa."

A ROMANCE OF RENEGUE.

In the course of an appreciation of the late Sir John Murray, Mr. J. Graham Kerr writes:—Murray was an excellent typical Scot. He could sing a song and tell a good story. But by far the best story I fancy, which he could ever be best to tell was that of a romance of how, looking down the tube of his microscope in his laboratory in Edinburgh at a little dirt speck up from the bottom of the ocean, he discovered the untold wealth of the now famous Christmas Island. Murray had, indeed, a great deal of time to the examination of ocean soundings. He might have been, and probably was, cited by the man who regulates all our affairs—the Man in the Street—as affording a striking example of the way in which devotees of science waste their time over matters of no importance. On this particular occasion the sample showed minute phosphoric particles—nothing unusual in this—but as the examination of these particles proceeded they were made by Murray to reveal their secret. Certain peculiarities betrayed the fact that they had not been actually formed, as is usually the case with such particles, at the bottom of the ocean, but must have originated on land, and on land comparatively close to where they had been found, and then, later, on been set free and sent to sea by the action of the streams or currents. Murray found that the land in question was Christmas Island in the Southern Indian Ocean, and then proceeded to see the thing through with the same efficiency and driving power which he had shown in purely scientific matters. From his discovery of Christmas Island came wealth, which was lavishly poured out upon scientific work.

This commercial romance touches Edinburgh. The "Times" says, for the Chair of Bacteriology which was founded last year in our University, and which is now occupied by Professor James Ritchie, was set up by the bequest of £20,000 made by the late Mr. Robert Irvine, who resided at Granton, and who was one of those who profited from the story of Christmas Island.

THE STUDENTS' IDLE MOMENTS.

Sir Edward A. Schaefer, of Edinburgh University, recommends to all students the habit of reading odd books and odd times, books dealing with matters far apart from their serious studies. He confesses that he finds pleasant recreation in the interval between going to bed and falling asleep in reading the curious information relating to all kinds of subjects in Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations." If his recreation is another adjunct to University education which he regards as most beneficial, but he places great stress on moderation. As a physiologist, he maintains that serious study and serious scientific study are incompatible.

NATIONAL PARK AT LOCH LOMOND.

An important scheme has come before the Corporation of Glasgow: they are required to take a leading part in a movement to acquire the entire of Bannockburn as a public park, on the shores of Loch Lomond, and for the purpose of a public park. The ground extends to 800 acres, and includes the Castle of Bannockburn and the beautiful wooded park. The price is fixed at £20,000, and it is believed that if the Corporation contribute £10,000 the balance will be met by public subscription. At the present time scores from the south to "the bonny, bonny banks of Loch Lomond," and to one of the finest panoramas of nature that Scotland can unfold, it is only obtained by what is described as a "back door round the corner."

HIGHLAND DANCE AT THE TOURNAMENT.

Queen Victoria School at Dunblane for the Sons of Scottish Sailors and Soldiers Club, the London and the British Royal Naval and Military Tournaments. It will be remembered that last year a party of lads from the school gave an interesting selection of pipe music followed by a display of Highland dancing, a novel feature which was loudly applauded at every performance. The programme of the King and Queen. Compliments among the party was a diminutive youngster whose portentous gravity, coupled with his marked skill as a dancer, made him a peculiar favourite. Much merriment was expressed at his withdrawal from the performance for a "dry off" to the "drying room," the very name of which was a subject of merriment. The dancing was a success, and the party was a success.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE TIGER.

(To the Editor of the "China Mail.")

Dear Sir,—Now that the existence of the Peak Tiger is no longer a matter of doubt, I would suggest taking into consideration the fact that as Mr. Stripes is of so valuable a disposition, as to evince a desire to play with children during their hours of recreation, our benevolent Government should forthwith erect somewhere in the vicinity of Gough's Hill a comfortable shed for the accommodation of Mr. Tiger and his spouse.

The rainy season is now on us, and as none of the Peakites seem to be on such friendly terms with our visitors as to be inclined to give him shelter during our hot and rainy months, our friend, like the host of American tourists, may soon betake himself away and leave our beautiful but inhospitable hills, for good.

Perhaps the Dairy Farm Co. would come forward with a splendid donation towards the building of the shed as Mr. Tiger has been so considerate as to visit in their own and pigs during his short sojourn in Pookland.

Yours faithfully,
THE CAT.

A Chinese correspondent contributes the following:—

A CHINESE STORY.

Once a butcher after selling part of pork in the city carried the remaining portion home in the village after sunset. When he had walked a few miles he was followed by a wolf, he turned back and threatened it with the knife, the wolf stopped but when he resumed his walking it followed him again. After several times in vain to threaten the wolf with the knife, he understood that the wolf was after the pork, so he climbed up a tree and hanged the hook with the pork on it with the intention of coming for it on the following morning. Having done this he saw the wolf with the empty hands and walked home without being followed. Early next morning when he came, to his great surprise that the wolf was hanged by the hook piercing into the palate of the mouth and quite dead. He took down the carcass and sold the skin for a good sum.

In view of the above story, I think the Peak tiger may be done away with by the same method, but instead of a simple hook a trhook should be used entirely covered with a lump of beef, and hanged on a strong branch where the bullock was killed by a strong rope about 10 to 12 feet from the ground.

THE SHAKUWAN MURDER CASE.

The prisoner was defended at the Police Court by Mr. Norrington of Mr. Geo. K. Hall Brutton's office.
